Real Estate Staging® works wonders on home sales!

An investment in Staging® will ALWAYS be less than your first price reduction.

“You only have one chance to make a first impression—make it count with Attention2Detail!”

Can the house you are selling, sell itself?

Will it outshine the competition?

Are you looking for a way to sell it faster and for more money?

Then it's time to discover what Real Estate Staging® can do for you!

The creative team at Attention2Detail, will use innovative interior redesign, organizing and Staging® solutions to help your prospective buyers visualize your house as their home.

How do we do this?

We will guide you through the process of:

- an initial consultation and written assessment of your top priorities
- the preparation of your house; both inside and out
- “Staging® Day” – setting the right scene BEFORE the Open House

Attention2Detail will present you with a range of options from do-it-yourself to the complete coordination of the details: including organizing and decluttering, arranging for rentals, storage, etc.

The end result: an expertly Staged® home that gives you a critical marketing edge over the competition. So BEFORE you EVER put your house on the market, consider Real Estate Staging® and contact us!
